BKV Energy announces Texas-wide launch, offering straightforward, simple energy plans
Newest retail electricity provider putting the power in Texans' hands

Bridgeport, Texas (January 24, 2023) – BKV Energy, a member of the BKV Corporation family of companies, announced today it has officially launched as the newest Texas retail electric provider, offering fair, transparent energy plans to residents in more than 250 counties across Texas. BKV Energy offers service in all deregulated areas of the state, including Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston, Corpus Christi and the Rio Grande Valley.

BKV has been safely producing clean-burning natural gas since 2015 and has also invested heavily in upgrading its high efficiency, low emissions power plant to be more environmentally sustainable as well as winterized for harsh weather. BKV acquired this plant in 2021 after the plant was able to operate during Winter Storm Uri and supplied critically needed energy to the Texas power grid. In the aftermath of Winter Storm Uri, BKV recognized that Texans deserved an electric provider who would be straightforward and transparent about pricing, the Texas grid and how it all works together. Today, the company is pleased to introduce BKV Energy as the newest member of its family of companies.

"Our focus at BKV has been to challenge the status quo and deliver reliable energy to the Texas grid," says Chris Kalnin, Chief Executive Officer of BKV. "Today, we launch BKV Energy, a new electricity provider, that aspires to deliver transparency and simplicity to the people of Texas. Each decision BKV Energy makes will be grounded in becoming a company our customers can rely on."

As retail electric rates continue to rise across Texas, BKV Energy enters a highly-competitive market with a unique offer for millions of Texans – simplicity. BKV Energy knows electricity is an essential service, and overly complicated offers with vague terms, extra fees and surcharges can be difficult to understand. Customers can now choose a straightforward and simple energy plan from BKV Energy that fits their personal needs. The company offers new customers a 30-day risk-free trial, during which they can cancel for any reason with no termination fees.

"Choosing an energy provider is one of the most important decisions a person can make because it directly affects their quality of life. With so many complicated plans in the market, you may not feel like you are in control," said Javier Hinojosa, Vice President, Retail Power. "But you are not as powerless as you might think. At BKV Energy, we aim to continuously provide excellent service and straightforward plans, without complications or buried loopholes. This is only the beginning; we have some interesting plans for the future of BKV Energy that I believe Texans will find very enticing.”
